

Community Solar Opportunities for Owners and Renters

Updated: 1/18/2023

Are you a renter? Do you own a home that isn't a good fit for solar panels?

Illinois Solar for All: Community Solar lets income-eligible homeowners and renters benefit from solar savings without having to install solar panels on their property.

Subscribing to a community solar project allows you to save money on electricity costs and support clean energy production

How it works:

1. Solar panels are installed somewhere in your utility territory.

2. If you pay an electricity bill, you can subscribe to this community solar project.

3. You will receive credits on your electricity bill for your portion of the project.

The community solar projects listed on the next page are currently recruiting new subscribers. Participants must be income-eligible, receive an electricity bill, and live in the utility territory where the project is installed (Ameren or ComEd). Use the contact information for the project to reach out to the approved solar company and learn more about participation availability.
